AND DISCLOSED AND HOW YOU CAN GET ACCESS TO THIS INFORMATION.
PLEASE REVIEW IT CAREFULLY.

St. Joseph County Commission on Aging (the "COA") maintains health information in client records (the "Client Files") for the purposes of determining eligibility for services and to coordinate services on behalf of the client's request best interest and receive payment for those services. The COA is required by federal law to maintain the privacy of Protected Health Information and to provide notice of our legal duties and privacy practices with respect to Protected Health Information. The COA creates a record of client information which may include health issues, medications, activities of daily living, social supports, living environments or other information necessary to perform services and obtain reimbursement for services. This notice applies to all of the Client Files we maintain. This notice fulfills the "Notice" requirements of the Health Information Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) Final Privacy Rule. If you have questions about any part of this Notice of Information Privacy practices or desire to have further information concerning our information practices, please direct them to the St. Joseph County Commission on Aging's Executive Director, whose contact information is listed at the end of this Notice. This revised Notice is published and became effective October 15, 2014.

This Notice of Information Privacy Practices explains how we will use or disclose your Protected Health Information ("PHI") for the purposes of determining eligibility for services, to coordinate/implement services on behalf of the client's request or client's best interest and receive payment for those services, evaluate service efficacy, adhere to grant or funding requirements or to conduct administrative operations. PHI includes records, notes, and reports, p a y m e n t claims, etc. that are individually identifiable.

Your PHI will be disclosed to certain employees of the COA, St. Joseph County, regional granting agencies, State of Michigan, coordinated health care providers, coordinated service providers. Access to employees is limited those who are required to assess, authorize and verify the validity of service eligibility, manage or verify service implementation/coordination, request or coordinate reimbursement for services, apply or coordinate payments made by others on your behalf and grant agency staff required to conduct program assessments or audits. These individuals may only use your PHI for service eligibility determination, service coordination, service referral, service implementation, reporting, or other administrative functions including program evaluation audit and functions as described below, provided they do not violate the provisions set forth herein. Any employee of COA who violates the rules for handling PHI established herein will be subject to adverse disciplinary action. COA will not be held liable for violations occurring outside of the COA.

We engage in the following practices involving the use and disclosure of Individually Identifiable Health Information to carry out treatment, payment and health care operations:

- To verify eligibility, coordinate or arrange services, implement or perform services. We may use your medical information to determine eligibility or to provide you or refer you to services as you have requested or may need. We may disclose medical information about you to other service agencies to coordinate services or to doctors, nurses, technicians, medical students, or other health care personnel, or social services personnel who are involved in your services, treatment or care plan. For example, a doctor treating you for a broken leg may need to know if you have diabetes because diabetes may slow the healing process. In addition, the doctor may need to inform COA of your recovery if services need to be stopped or restarted. We also may disclose information about you to people outside the COA who may be involved with other services you receive or persons who may be coordinating additional services on your behalf.
- Emergencies. We may use or disclose your PHI in an emergency treatment situation, for example to contact 911 dispatch, police, fire department personnel or ambulance personnel, including doctors, social workers or other health and human services personnel. If this happens, the healthcare provider will try to obtain your consent as soon as reasonably practicable after the delivery of treatment. If the healthcare provider, your physician, or another physician, is required by law to treat you and the physician has attempted to obtain your consent but is unsuccessful, he or she may still use or disclose your PHI to treat you and may disclose this information to the COA to assist with the continuum of care.
- For Payment. We may use and disclose medical or other information about you to determine eligibility for services or programs, to facilitate payment for services you receive, to report, personal, demographic information, service type date of service and units of services received to granting agencies. For example, we may use your information regarding services to ask granting agencies to reimburse COA for the services you received. We may also use your information to obtain approval for services you may receive or to determine whether a third party will cover the service. We may also share information with grant funding agencies to prove service outcomes, review or coordinate additional services with another service provider. Likewise, we may share medical information with another entity to assist with the adjudication or subrogation of payment or reimbursement claims or to another agency to coordinate payments.

If this happens, the healthcare provider will try to obtain your consent as soon as reasonably practicable after the delivery of treatment. If the healthcare provider, your physician, or another physician, is required by law to treat you and the physician has attempted to obtain your consent but is unsuccessful, he or she may still use or disclose your PHI to treat you and may disclose this information to the COA to assist with the continuum of care. These uses and disclosures are necessary to make sure all clients receive appropriate services. For example, we may use medical information to relay to emergency responders so they may administer the best care possible. We may combine medical information about many participants to decide what additional services should be covered, what services are not needed, and whether certain new treatments are effective. We may disclose information to doctors, nurses, technicians, medical students, and other hospital personnel to facilitate emergency care. We may combine your medical information with that of other clients to seek grants to expand services to individuals with similar conditions we may remove information that identifies you from this set of medical information so others may use it to study access and service delivery without learning the identity of the patients.
